Union Wages War

Fighting for Physical Fitness
Striving for Skills
Combating Boredom
Defending Democracy

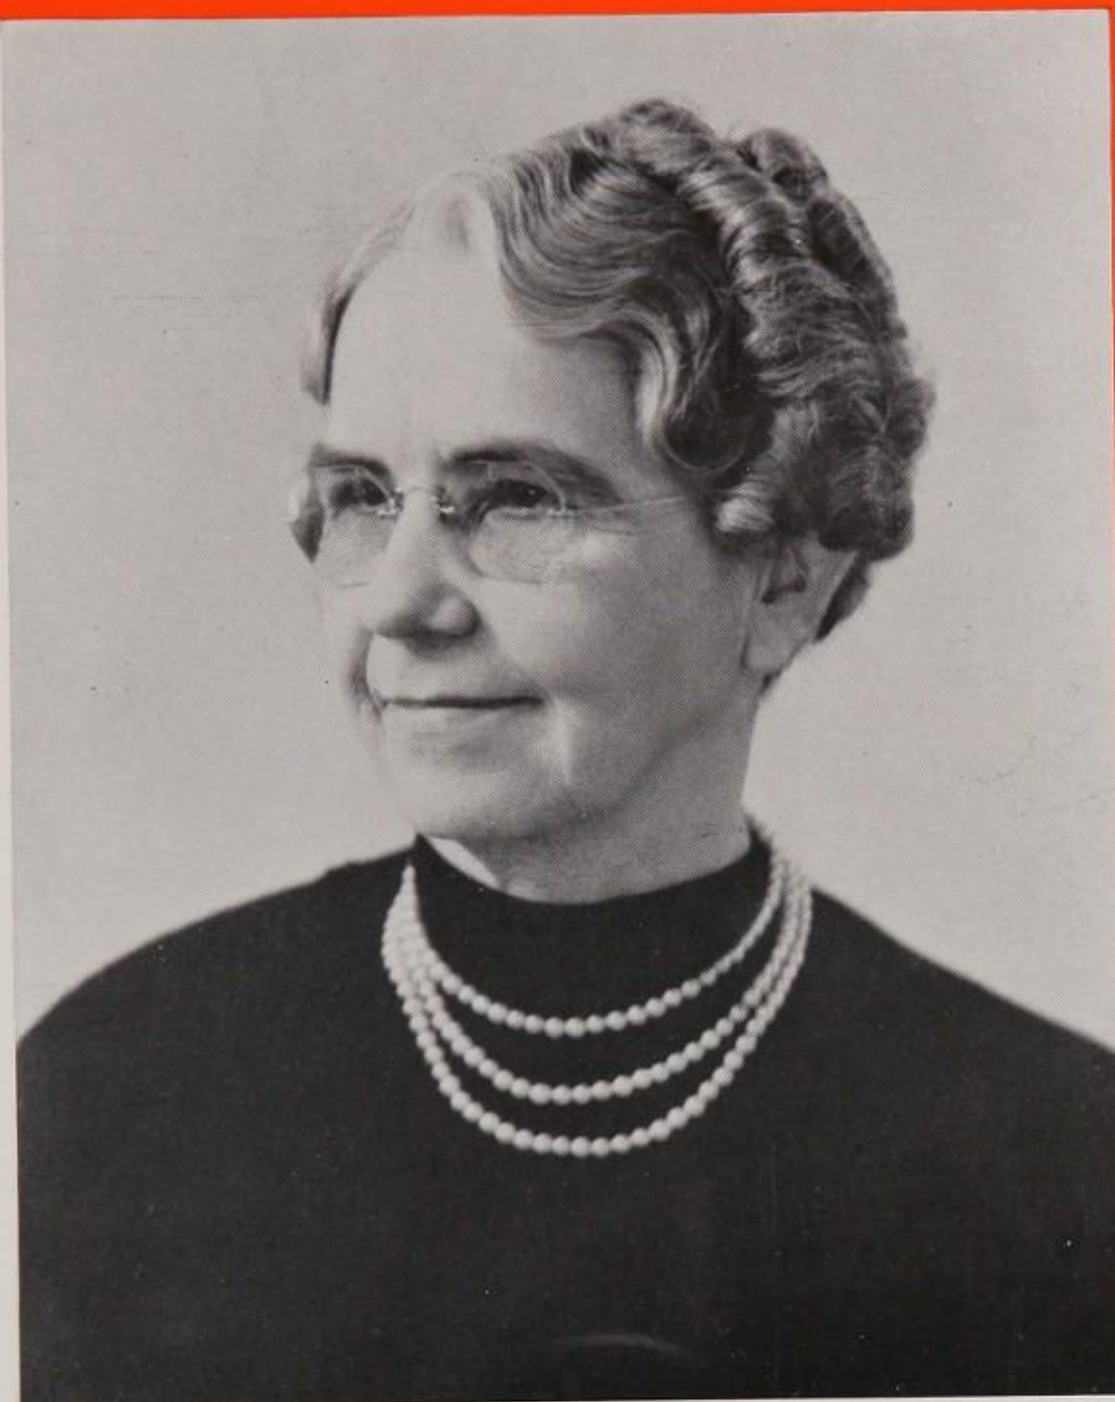

Foreword

Yearly, Union High School is the scene of a quiet but intense warfare where each student is a stalwart soldier training to prepare himself for the greater battle which is life after graduation. Physical fitness, knowledge of skills, defenses against boredom, and preservation of democracy are the objectives toward which he strives.

While in many foreign nations the youth is trained to become a small cog of a great military machine, the American school boy is trained to become an individual equipped to enjoy a fuller life.

The portrait section of our book, in which we have imagined the faculty and students officers and soldiers of an army, we have entitled "Personnel." The second part, which represents school life as a struggle to attain certain objectives, we have chosen to entitle "Union Wages War!"

To Miss Blanch Mann, who through her position of assistant-principal has long been an understanding and helpful friend of the students of Union High School, the staff of the 1940 Aurora gratefully dedicates this book.

To help Union students to become better citizens has been the objective toward which Miss Mann has constantly pushed. Her untiring efforts, her determination, and her fond interest in the pupils of Union High School, have been effective ammunition in her struggle to achieve her objective.

Memories of Miss Mann's affectionate service will always remain with those students and teachers who have come to know her.

Inspired by books not blood, waving banners not bayonets, the inexhaustible forces of Union High School are forever at the front, eagerly pressing forward to an eventual goal.

Behind Union's mass attack on ill health, indifference and inefficiency, is a numerous body of faculty, alumni, and students. This great army, shooting guns loaded with "ambition" instead of "ammunition," continually wages a constructive war. Led by Commander-in-chief Charles A. Everest, the Red unit is advancing daily and is slowly attaining its objective.

In the following section, which we have chosen to call "Personnel," we shall present for your inspection, Union's entire army. The seniors are more or less on "dress parade," but the rest of us appear in our everyday khaki.

Charles A. Everest

Commander-in-Chief

Charles A. Everest, commander-in-chief at Union, is widely known as a leader in affairs of Grand Rapids' West Side. Because of his pleasant disposition and sense of humor, he is well liked by students, teachers, and members of the community.

Each year finds Mr. Everest promoting a number of new projects to be directed by student leaders. Recently, under his command, a student commission has produced an up-to-date handbook which will be of great help to future students at Union. Because he is a progressive educator, Mr. Everest has made the noon hour a recreational period during which students are given the opportunity to participate in such activities as dancing, ping-pong, and chess.

That his energy is inexhaustible is proved by his participation in numerous activities which include acting as chairman of the City Student Loan Fund, president of the Teachers Credit Union, director of the high school principals' discussion groups, and member of the Kent County Humane Board.

For relaxation Mr. Everest turns to his workshop and his beautiful flower garden.

For a number of years he has been ably assisted by two veterans, Miss Blanche Mann, who is retiring this year, and Miss Helen Olson, office clerk.

Thirty-seven universities and colleges are listed as being the Alma Maters of Union faculty members. Thirty-one of our teachers are alumni of the University of Michigan; fourteen are alumni of Columbia; eleven are alumni of Western State Teachers College; eleven have attended the University of Wisconsin; eleven, Michigan Normal College; five, the University of Chicago; eight, Grand Rapids Junior College; and four, Northwestern University.

Other schools which our teachers have attended are: the University of Rochester, the University of California, the University of Montana, Michigan State College, Kansas State College, Hope College, Calvin College, and the University of Toronto.

Among the seventy-two members listed on the faculty, forty-nine hold bachelors' degrees and eleven hold masters' degrees.

Members of the faculty who have received diplomas from foreign universities are: Ethel Scholes, from the Sorbonne in Paris; Emma Zur Muehlen, from the University of Berlin, where she also received the "Brunner Order"; Grace Thomasma, from the Japanese Language School, Tokio, Japan. Miss Thomasma was an instructor in English and assistant-principal at Plum-blossom Girls' School in Nagasaki.

Leaders on the scholastic front during their high school days were Henry N. Hornbeck, Margaret E. MacDonald, Lavina A. Laible, Maude A. Traut, Mary I. MacLennan, Oren D. Stiehl, and Nelle Atwood, each valedictorian of his class. Second line defenses in high school scholarship were womanned by Dorothy Jane Farr and Myrtle S. Heseltine.

In the ranks of honor students during their school days were many members of our faculty, including Mabel E. Allen, Charlotte M. Randall, Geraldine F. Masters, and Stanley Albers.

Top row: Arthur J. Avery, commercial; W. R. Pease, mathematics; Forrest E. Barr, commercial; Floyd L. Early, mathematics; Clayton W. Bazuin, biology
Center: Lemuel Holbrook, science; Keith Kennedy, science; Henry N. Hornbeck, biology; Forrest E. Lair, commercial; Oren D. Stiehl, science; Mary I. Mac Lennan, mathematics
Bottom row: Nelle Atwood, mathematics; Charlotte M. Randall, retail selling; Edna E. Maxson, commercial; Marie Mc Dermott, commercial; Elizabeth B. Crotser, commercial; Berton J. Kemp, commercial in their student days debating and dramatics interested many of our faculty. Debaters were Lura V. Sipe, Maude Ann Traut, Anita Holland, Mary I. MacLennan, Merle H. Howe, Oren D. Stiehl, Henry N. Hornbeck, Lemuel G. Holbrook, Maynard Ellingson, Fred Voss, Stanley Albers, Geraldine F. Masters, Lavina A. Laible, M. Blanch Mann, and Charles A. Everest.

Among those who participated in dramatics were Maude Ann Traut, Anita Holland, Floyd L. Early, Marie J. McDermott, Elizabeth B. Crotser, Merle H. Howe, Oren D. Stiehl, Lemuel G. Holbrook, Maynard Ellingson, Fred Voss, Valora F. Quinlan, Lucile Ellen Meyering, Grace Thomasma, Esther E. Eby, Edward T. Henry, Ruth Carpenter, Lavina A. Laible, Elmer O. Liskey, Geraldine F. Masters, and Olga Perschbacher.

First row: Lavina A. Laible, English; Ruth Carpenter, Spanish and English
 Second row: Dorothy S. Blake, Latin; Ethel Scholes, French; Clara B. Smallidge, English and public speaking

 Fourth row: Mabel Emily Allen, English; Myrtle S. Heseltine, English and journalism; Leonard Meyering, English
 Fifth row: Stanley Albers, speech; Doris Dunham, English
 Sixth row: Lura V. Sipe, English; Grace Thomasma, English; Olga Perschbacher, English; Valora F. Quinlan, English

"Vernice Pruitt, the Teacher Who Does," an article written by Florence C. Parsell was published in the February issue of School Arts. Two compositions of Florence Best have been accepted by Ginn and Company, music publishers, to be used in a forthcoming music book for junior high.

First row: Florence Parsell, art; Edith F. Barker, art
Second row: Florence C. Best, vocal music; Theodore F. Fryfogle, instrumental music
Third row: Alice Munger, sight conservation; Marie C. Neuman, home economics; Maynard Elingson, mathematics; Edward T. Henry, social science; John Hess, science; Fred Voss, science; Elmer O. Liskey, physical education

Sixth row: Ernest F. Vreeland, mechanics; E. G. Bengston, woodworking; Paul Marckwardt, cabinetmaking; Merle H. Howe, electricity; Dee Allen Reynders, mechanical drawing; George Guy, printing; Charles M. Raver, machine shop; Dorothy J. Farr, sight conservation

Waging war against boredom is in order for the faculty, as well as for the students of Union, judging by the varied hobbies and recreations in which they participate.

Gardening is a favorite with collecting antiques and traveling running close seconds. Especially interested in gardening are Geraldine F. Masters, Marie C. Neuman, Olga Perschbacher, Floyd Early, Edith Van Wicklin, and Keith Kennedy.

A desire "strange places for to see" keeps many of our teachers traveling during their vacations, among these being Ethel E. Scholes, Florence Parsell, Lucille Dunn, Emma ZurMeuhlen, Grace Thomasma, Esther E. Eby, Lucille E. Meyering, and Elmer O. Liskey.

Collecting antiques, books, and other articles keeps Margaret E. MacDonald, Marie J. McDermott, Esther Vander Broek, Charlotte M. Randall, Anita Holland, and Leonard J. Meyering busy after school hours.

Unusual hobbies are those of Lemuel G. Holdbrook, who maintains a peppermint farm; Edward T. Henry, who finds woodworking interesting; and H. M. Dexter, who is interested in working with metals. Merle H. Howe has made a hobby of shooting.

Church work occupies the spare time of both Oren D. Stiehl and Dee A. Reynders; while Nelle Atwood, Theodore F. Fryfogle, Doris Dunham, and W. R. Pease are among those who find recreation in various sports.

Serving on various civic and professional committees during the past year has kept many of our faculty busy.

Berton J. Kemp was among those who served as a member of the publicity committee for the P.E.A. Convention in Grand Rapids last December; Elizabeth I. Perrin was a member of the State Safety Committee; Lavina A. Laible served as a member of the State Humane Education Committee; Valora F. Quinlan represented the high schools of the city on the Junior Red Cross Board; Clara B. Smallidge served as teacher vice-president of the Grand Rapids P.T.A. Council and corresponding secretary of the Union High Community Council. Clayton W. Bazuin is engaged in a complete re-check of plants now growing in Kent County, a project that is being sponsored by the University of Michigan; and Lura V. Sipe acted as chairman of the Philanthropic Committee of the Grand Rapids Business and Professional Women's Club.

First row: Richard Marousek, history; Geraldine F. Masters, social science; Emma Zur Muehlen, history; May F. Conlon, history
Second row: Ina A. Findlay, history and mathematics; Elizabeth M. DeJonge, history and English; Edith Van Wicklin, social science and mathematics; Elizabeth I. Perrin, history and civics; Lucille Dunn, history and civics; Lucille Meyering, history

Class of 1940

UNION WAGES WAR!

Skirmishes with backsliders, battles with agitators, and vehement attacks on inactivity provided for the class of 1940 a course of action synonymous with our yearbook's theme.

Although the class suffered a bit from stalemate at the opening of school in September, a big drive which called for extensive character investigation by the advisers and officers culminated in the selection of the senior committees. Most active among these groups were the cap and gown and play selection committees, whose problems gave rise to heated discussions and necessitated weeks of negotiating. Meeting attack with counter-attack, members of each of these two committees repulsed their opponents and succeeded, finally, in establishing a "pact of peace."

Genial Bob Glupker, senior president; Seymour Leven, vice-president; Helen Rigiero, secretary; and Ruth Sonneveldt and Chester Kabza, treasurers; with the able assistance of the class advisers, Miss Thomasma and Mr. Voss, stood foremost in sponsoring a liberal administration.

Lillian Lockett, one of the chiefs of the Reflector "General Staff"; Cassie Pilarz, versatile member of the Service Squad; James Hinman, outstanding dramatist and veteran debater; Robert Jakems, strategist and ex-officio member of the Reflector staff; and Ben Blandford, commanding officer of many organizations, were among the senior class leaders in extra-curricular activities.

1. Officers Leven, Rigiero, Glupker, Sonneveldt, Kabza, and Adviser Thomasma
2. Editor Lockett
3. Debater Hinman
4. Leader Blandford and Journalist Jakems
5. Promoter Pilarz
6. Adviser Thomasma, Committeemen Rigiero, Glupker, Poggi, and Blandford

Class of 1941

The commander-in-chief of the Junior ranks is President Armen Oumedian, whose very able corps of officers — Secretary Margaret Carlson, Treasurer Helen Garter, and Vice-president Joe Medukas — has supported him to stimulate an interest in class affairs. On the home front are Miss Smallidge and Mr. Early, faculty advisers, who are ready to assist the officers of the class if reinforcements are needed.

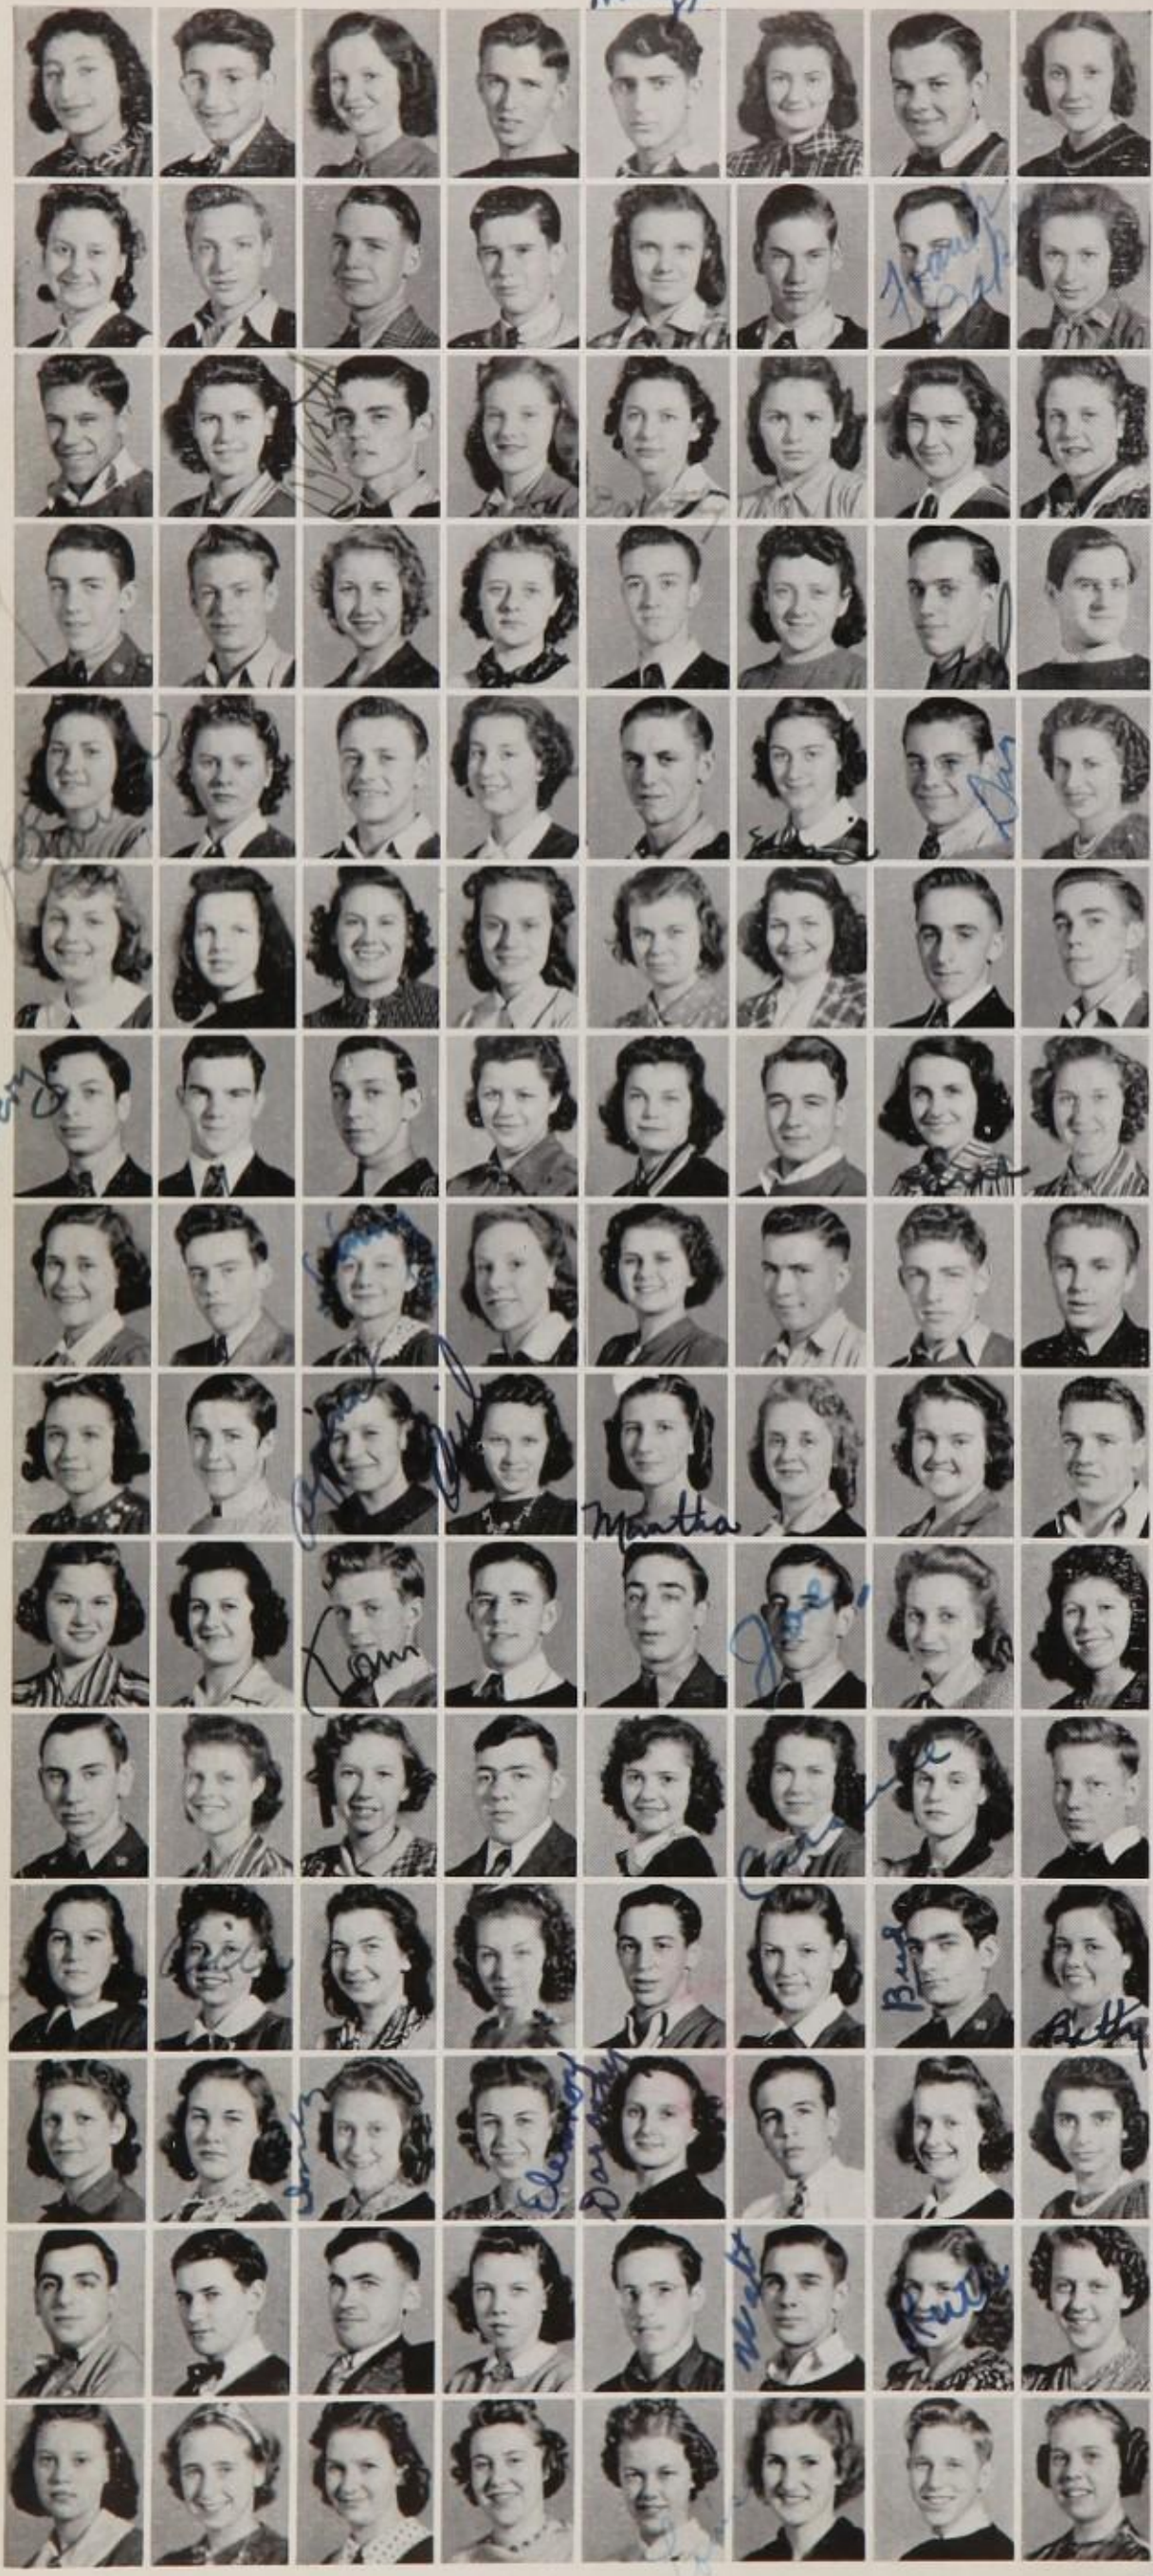

Lester Wolfson and Paul Goolian, using ideas as their ammunition and composition as their shields, won "medals" in all-city essay contests; Lester's prize was twenty-five dollars and Paul's an airplane ride.

Among juniors active in class and school affairs are Latin Club President George Budres; Paul Goolian, tennis player and essay writer; and Jack Verschoor, outstanding in scholarship; all of whom have been able assistants on the Aurora staff as has Ruth Rose, a prominent new member of the class of '41. Robert Jarka was the chairman of the junior-senior prom on May 10, while Lester Wolfson and Douglas Leader were co-chairmen of the committee who planned the big roller skating party on April 26. There must always be fans to keep up the morale of our teams; and topping the list of Union's many loyal sports enthusiasts are two junior class leaders, Mary Jean Hess and Frances Johnson.

One of the most efficiently mobilized classes in the school in a number of years is the class of '42 which has declared war in earnest against the "Balkan jitters" to which every class is exposed when confronted by the prospect of junior prom bills.

Under the leadership of able officers — David Quigley, president; Patty Welch, vice-president; Fred Schulz, secretary; and Marjorie Smith, treasurer — and the advisership of Miss McDermott and Mr. Henry, the sophomore troops have been able to carry out some extremely successful (money-raising) objectives, such as a skating party and a sunlight dance. The profits from these affairs are to be used for next year's junior prom. Among the sophs who have helped to make these class affairs a success are Sylvia Ragir and Virginia Skorupski.

Other sophomores who are outstanding in school affairs are Bob Matthews and Gordon Huebner, who are active in the music department; and Wayne Harris, Gerald Bowkamp, Bob Nelson, and Dave Dickey who have participated in a number of sports.

Class of 1943

With Miss Thomas and Mr. Marousek as advisers, the class of 1943 has enjoyed a very successful year. Officers are Eugene Lundberg, president; Charles Olson, vice-president; James La Brenz, secretary; and Peter Post, treasurer.

In a vote taken in the one all-freshman home room, Mr. Meyering's ninth graders rated Mr. Hess's and Mr. Bazuin's science classes and Miss Meyering's world history as their favorite classes. Other popular subjects listed were English and business arithmetic.

Prominent members of the class are Robert Norton and Wilson Apkarian, who starred on the second string football team last fall and will undoubtedly make the first team in 1940; Marvin Blik, who was on the basketball squad; Edward West, who sold one hundred and one books of Round-up tickets to come in second in that mighty conflict.

1. Cabinet Meeting

Mr. Marousek, Olson, Miss Thomas, Lindberg, Lobrenz, Post

2. Does He Bite?

Mr. Hess, Reiner, Weikert, Hockette, Proper, Ankrom, Souer

3. Bird, Beast, or Fish?

Class of 1944

With Miss Quinlan as their adviser the eighth graders chose the following officers: Blaine Kindig, president; Louise Vanden Berg, vice-president; Dorothy Karis, secretary; and Mary Ricketson, treasurer.

Studying governmental tactics, home economics, and science are favorite "on duty" jobs with the class of 1944.

In an effort to make the Round-up a success they sponsored a cowboy hat booth.

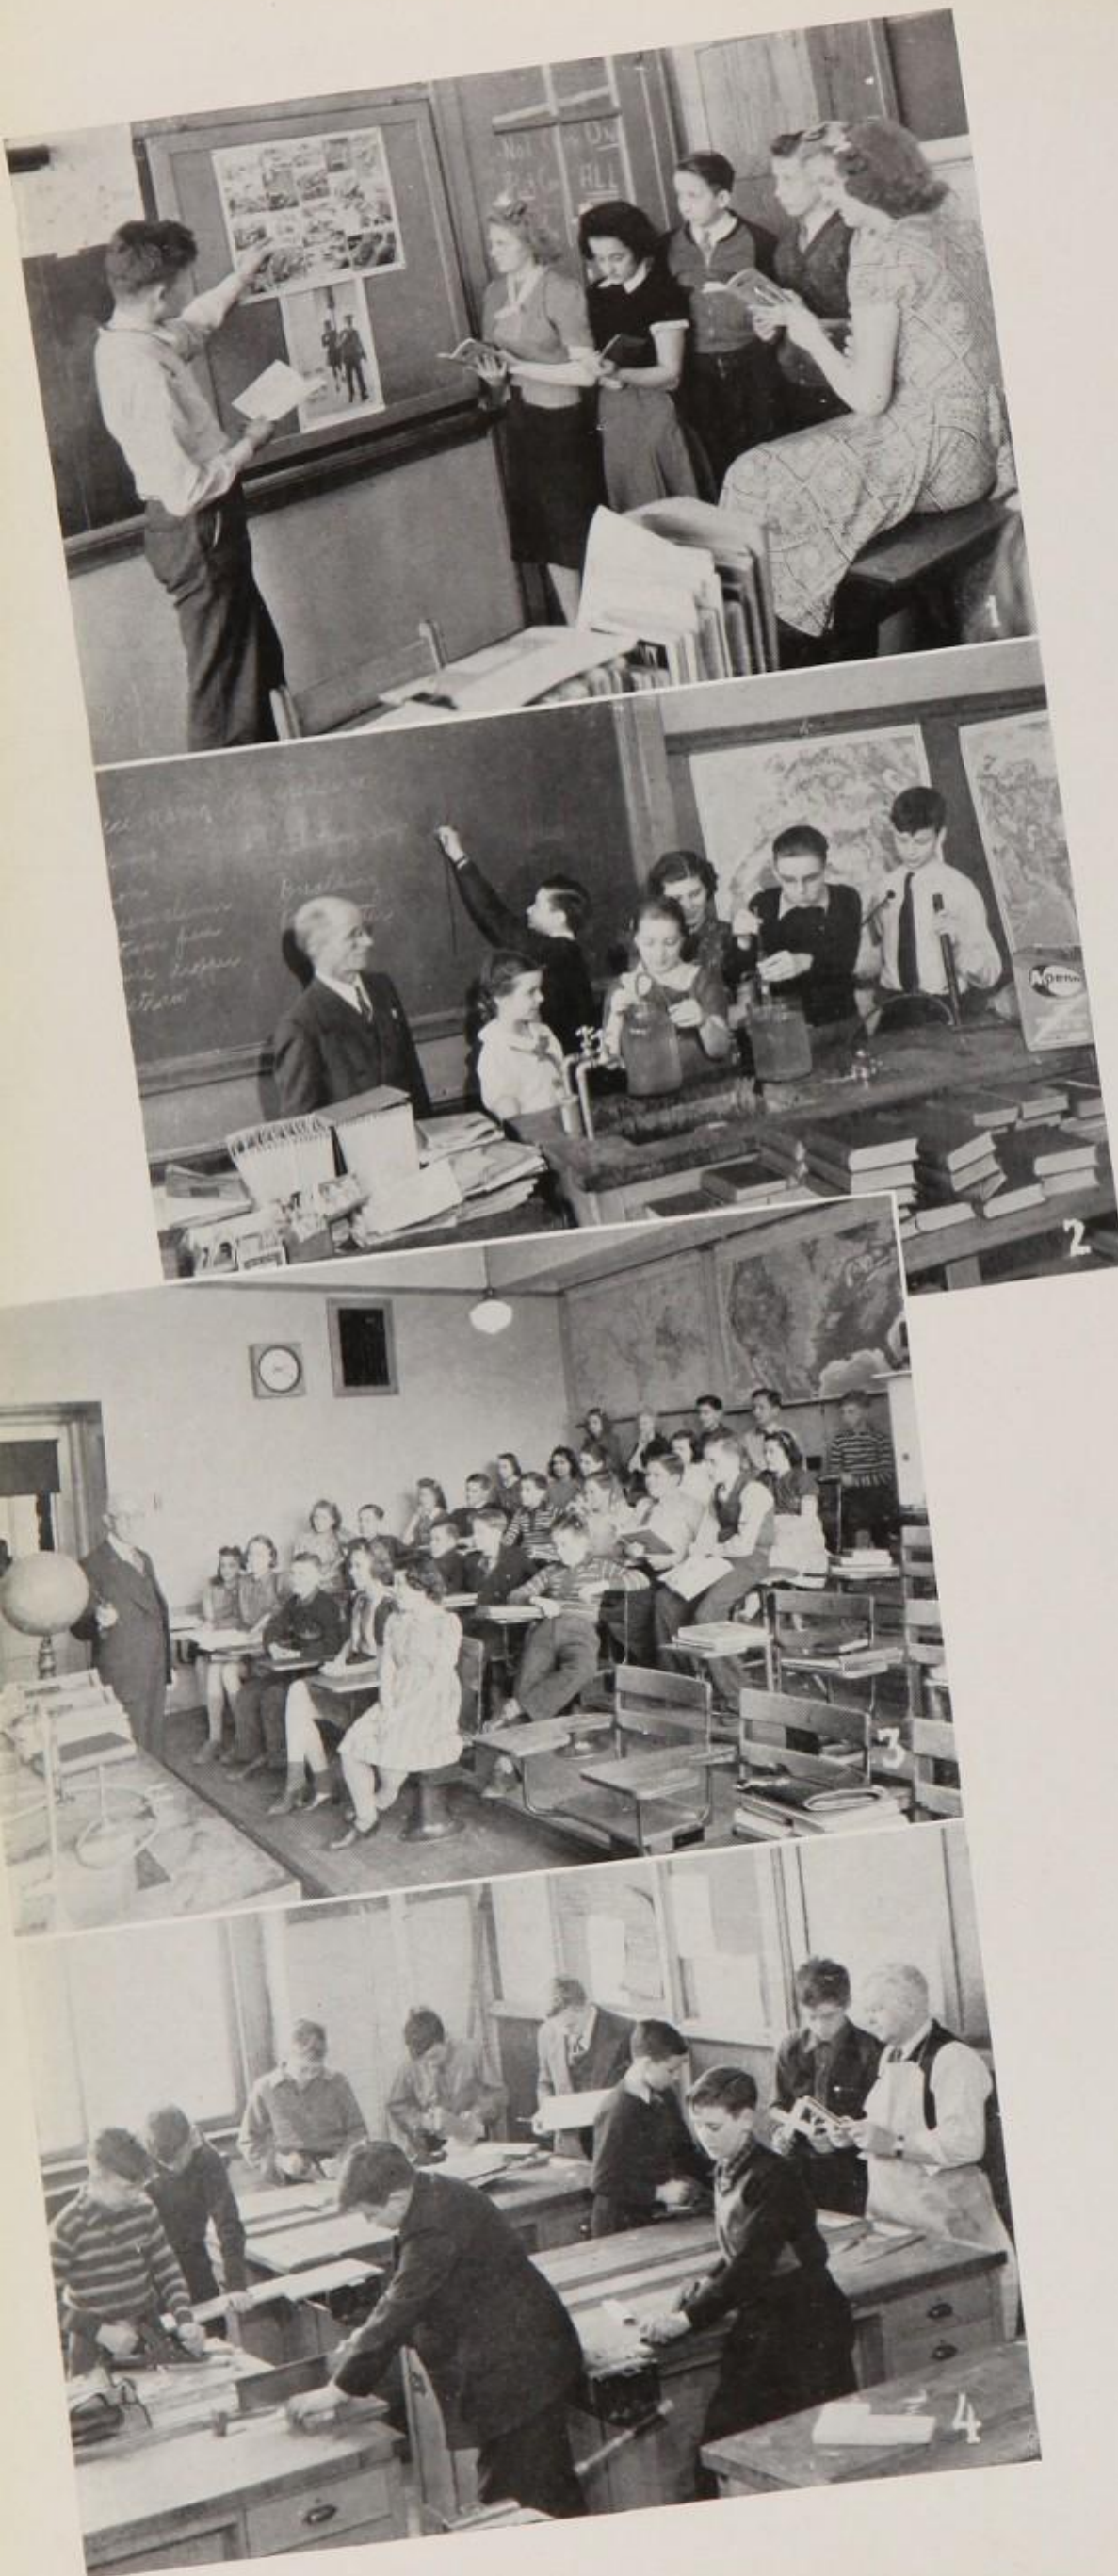

Class of 1945

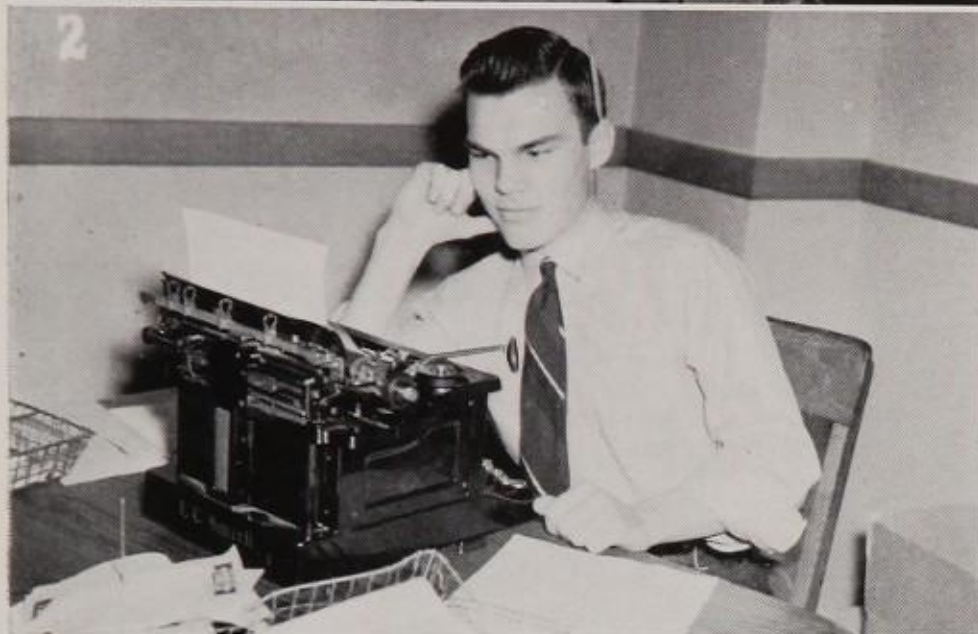

Our newest recruits rate science, geography, and woodworking as their favorite classes.

The seventh graders have an organized committee which takes the place of class officers. Through the efforts of this officers' platoon, a seventh grade party was given at which an amateur show was the main entertainment. Thus, all the "rookies" were given a chance to show their skills and achievements. The detail also made it possible for the class of 1945 to have a booth at the Round-up.

Members of this committee are Alice Jean Moxon, Patty Higgins, Darrell Chapel, Robert Carter, Darwin Pickle, Dale Rosel, Eva Gross, Eugene Bouwens. Miss De Jonge is the faculty adviser of the group.

Victors in the skirmish for Union's most prized honor are Sophie Churmynski and Alvin Klawiter, who captured the Dillingham cups. Faculty members choose the winners on the basis of scholarship, character, and service.

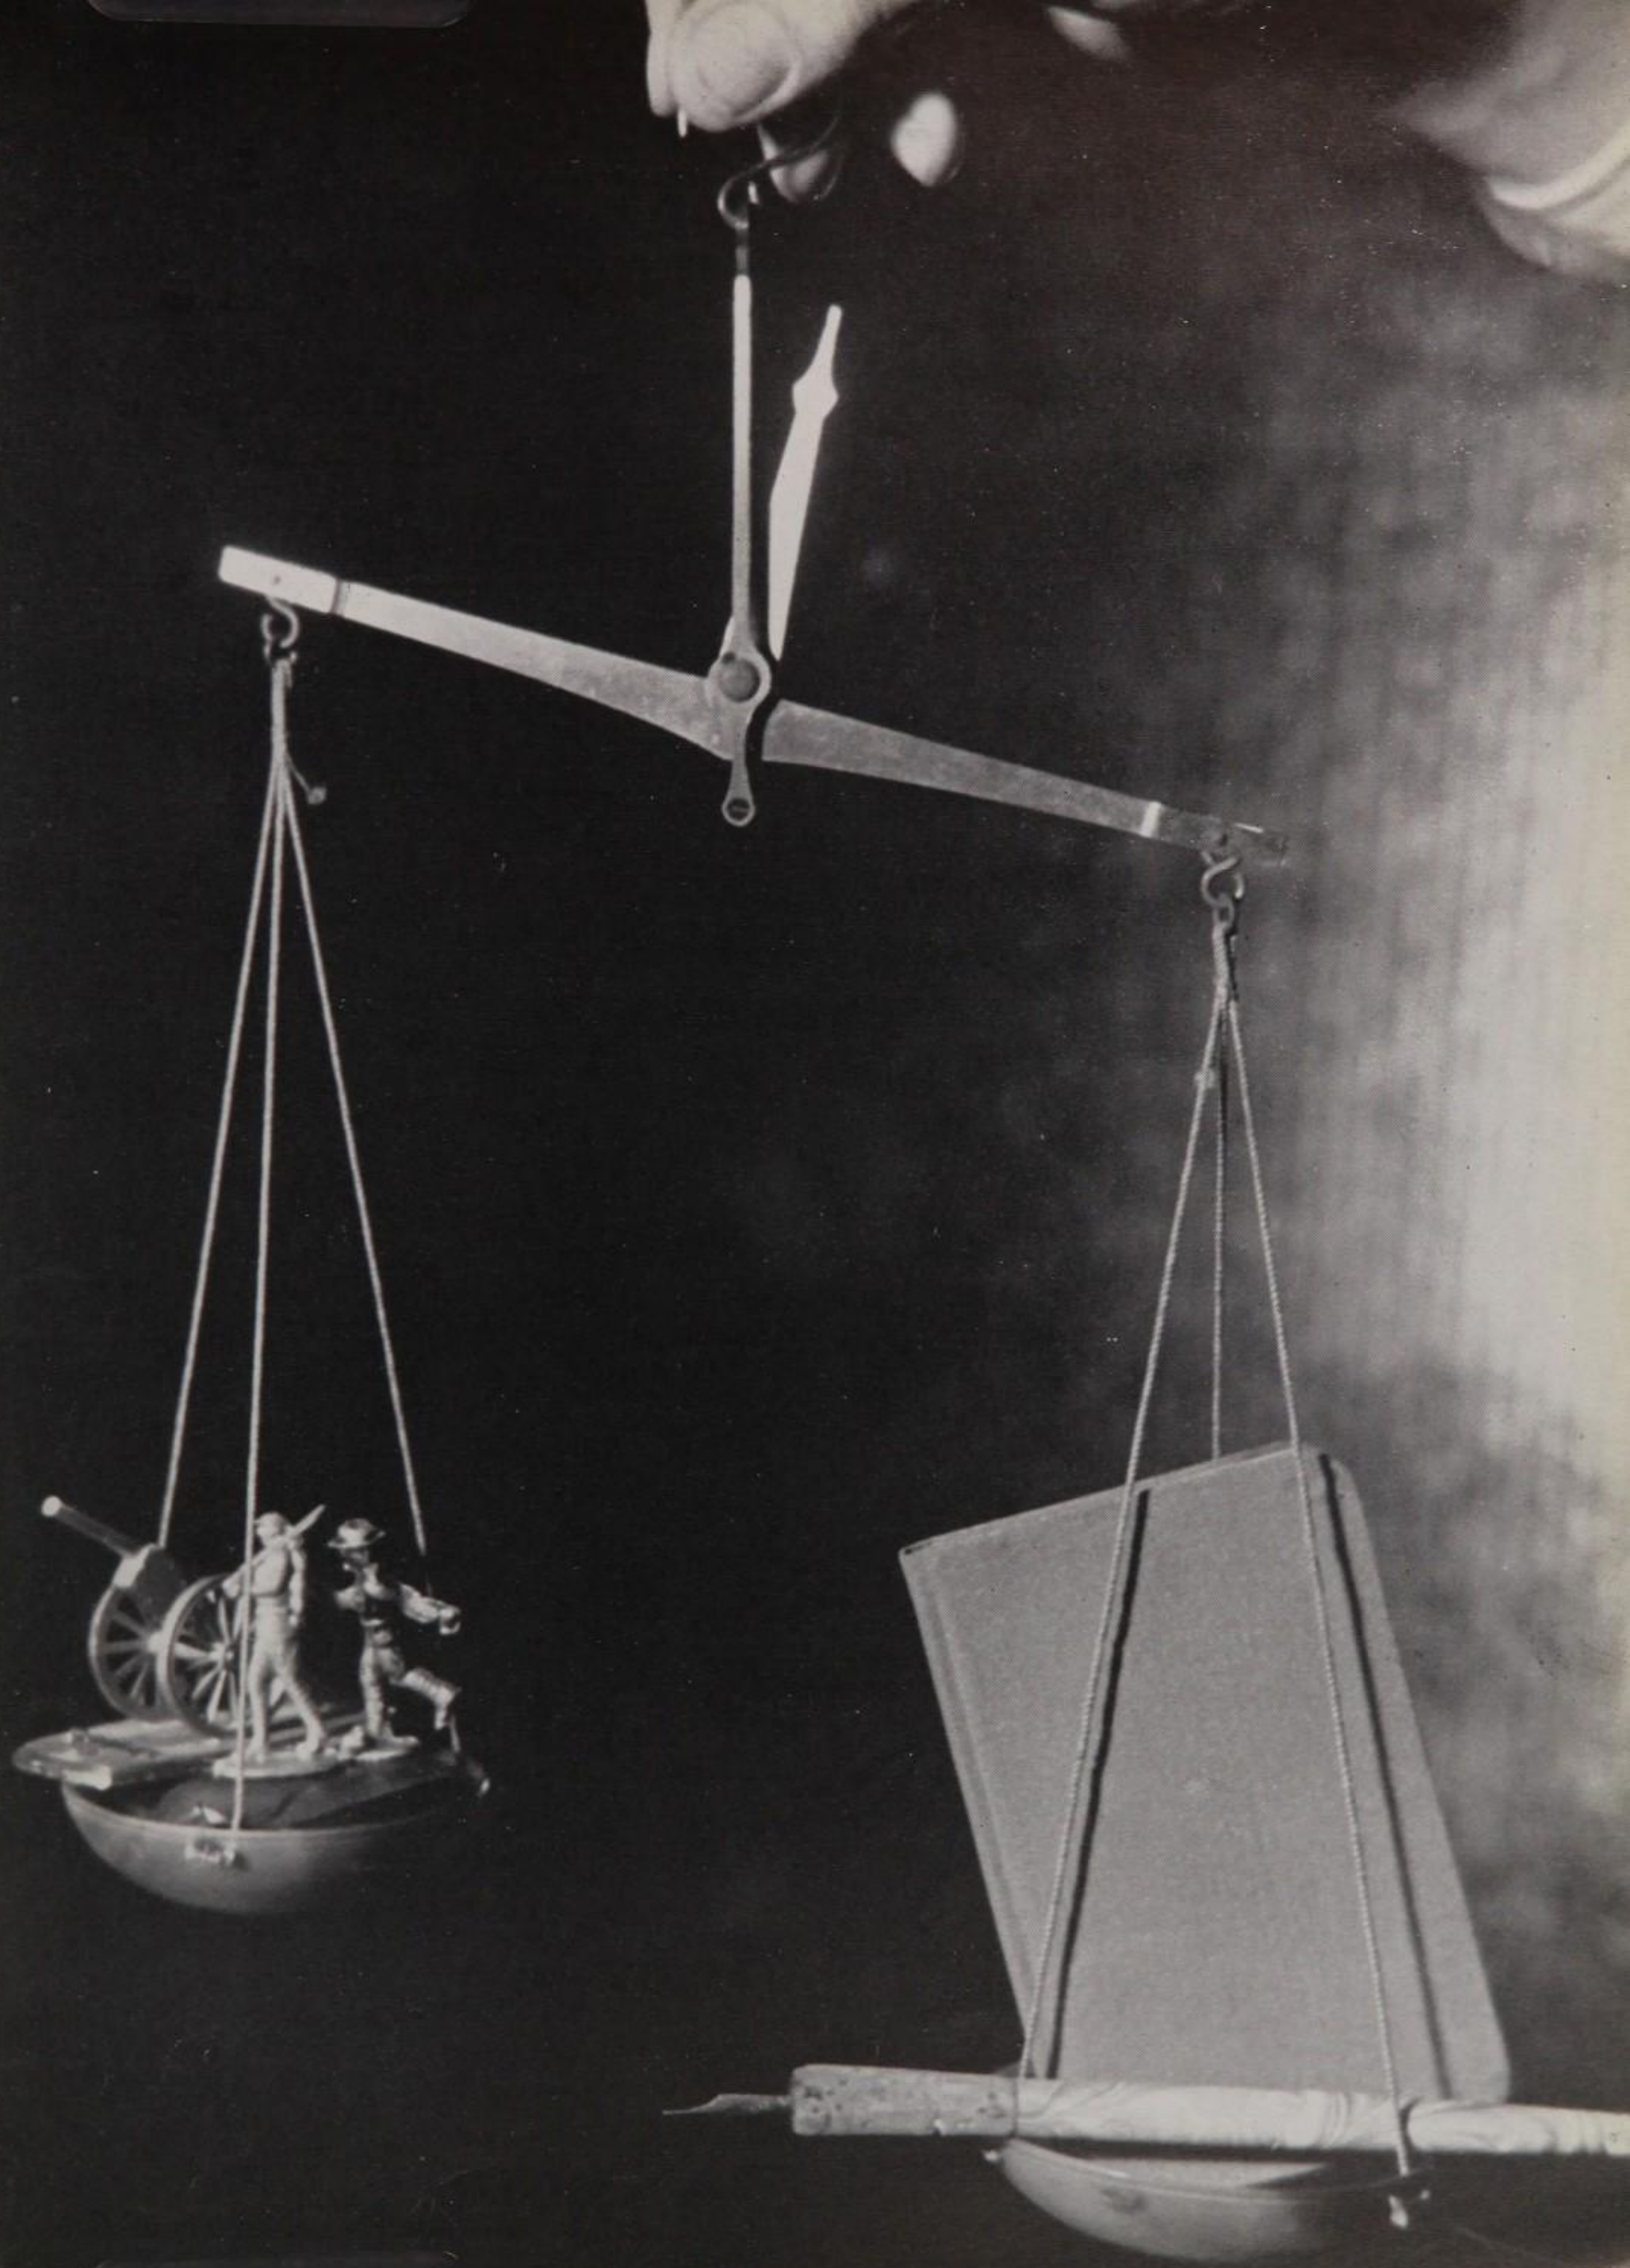

Alvin Klawiter also succeeded in gaining the Marion L. Jennings language award by his excellence in three languages.

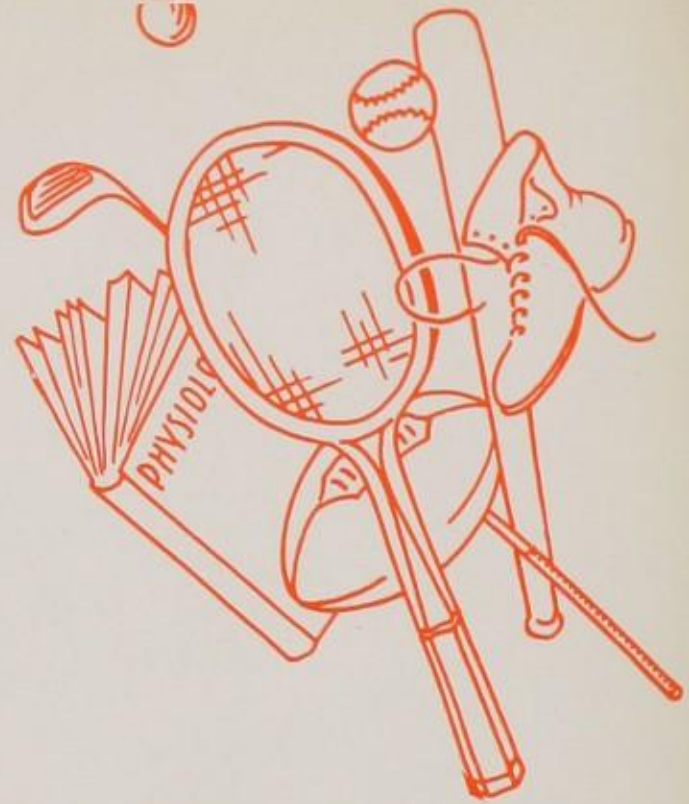

Only one Keck award was made this year — to Robert Jakems, because of his initiative and creative ability in journalistic work.

Charles McCarthy, Robert Siebeneicher, Mary Jane Miling, Nadine Schumann, Dorothy Haan, Cassie Pilarz, Sophie Churmynski, Robert Glupker, Robert Jakems, Ben Blandford, Jane DeWitt, Lillian Luckett, Margaret Jean Smith, Linda Reisman, and Helen Rigiero came from the fray in which they have been engaged for the past four years with gold keys as their booty. These stalwart soldiers fought hard for the awards which are won on the basis of activity points earned in literary work, citizenship, clubs and organizations, music, art, physical education, and special honors.

Ranking high in scholarship, leadership, service, and character, the members of the National Honor Society are chosen by a faculty committee on the basis of their school record. Senior members elected in their junior year are Louis Hendershot, Mary Jane Miling, Frances Zemitis, Rosemary Sutter, Dorothy Haan, Seymour Leven, Linda Reisman, Sophie Churmynski, Margaret Jean Smith, Florence Russell, Nadine Schumann, Lillian Luckett, Cassie Pilarz, Thaddeus Golembiewski, and Helen Schuka. Members elected in their senior year are Alice Flynn, Jennie Geraitis, Celia Gross, Robert Jakems, Chester Kabza, Alvin Klawiter, Charles McCarthy, James Meholic, Nellie Metalonis, Judith Montgomery, Betty Nederfeld, Lorraine Post, Helen Rigiero, Helen Russell, Dorothy Schadenberg, Rita Smith, Theodora Staskiewicz, and Carol York.

UNION WAGES WAR

We fight for physical fitness through participation in clean, carefree sports, and moderate, well-balanced exercise; not for us is the gruelling goose-step march or the brutal military training which regiments men and makes them no longer masters of themselves but machines, obeying the will of their leader. In American public schools, boys and girls are taught to think and act for themselves; to create rather than to destroy, to lead rather than to follow. Their bodies and minds are trained not to be ready for a call to arms but for a call to serve and to help build a strong and secure democracy.

Wars and Preparation for War

Wars, which in many lands are destroying not only the lives of soldiers, but even undermining the health of non-combatants, are also being waged in America, not to kill people but to save them. Efforts to war on all dangers threatening the health of students are being made here at Union High School.

Sight conservation helps students to aim straighter so that they can vanquish the optic enemy; general physiology, which is a study of the mechanism of the body, teaches pupils that the body must function co-ordinately like an army or it will lose in its battle for life; speech correction aims at the complete relaxation of the body so that words can be shot out of the mouth straight and true; science helps in numerous ways to put a stop to the encroachment of the enemy, ill-health; while gym classes exercise the body to put it in condition for the resistance of an attack by the deadly enemy, disease.

Such classes as these are, in reality, the front line trenches in Union's battle against harmful forces which gain entrance all too easily to the minds and bodies of the unprepared.

Little Red Jug Visits Enemy Lines

On the home front enthusiasm of Red Hawk fans ran high during the opening weeks of school and gave our fellows a royal send-off to carry the team to a 14-0 victory over the Traverse City eleven. Successful attack was again the lot of the Unionites with Berkley at the small end of a 25-0 combat. The following week, however, the Catholic Central Cougars pushed the Hawks back in a 7-0 battle under the lights of Houseman Field. The Indians of Ottawa held the Red Hawks to a 6-6 tie, while the Creston Polar Bears held them to a 7-7 deadlock. Central's battalion, popularly known as the Hilltoppers, pushed forward to a 9-7 victory. The Muskegon Muskies, fighting

Union for the last time, as far as football is concerned, turned the tables on the Unionites in a tough 18-0 battle. Muskegon has always been one of our strongest opponents and we hope that they have enjoyed playing us as we have enjoyed playing them. After an "off" week, Union tackled Tech's Wildcats but was unable to crack Tech's line of defense, and the game ended in a scoreless tie.

Thanksgiving day hopes raised the somewhat flagging spirit of the Union rooters and a capacity crowd filled the Houseman field stands. The Red Birds played a marvelous game; South went home with the prize of war, the famous little red jug.

The Red Hawk seconds had a successful season, coming out on top in all clashes except that with Muskegon. Only twenty points were scored against them in the city league, a record, which, of course, gives them the city seconds' title.

To prove how good our reserve team is, we have included two pictures of the seconds in action, the first showing Czuhai and Goosmann taking advantage of poor tackling. In the second, the ball is about to go places with Czuhai and Kiehle.

The Fighting Fortieth

The Calm before the Storm — Steketee, R. DeVries, Medukas, Olson

Out of Reach — Medukas, Linaere, R. DeVries, Zimmerman

The 1939-40 basketball team, though it failed to make as impressive a record in the column of victories as some previous teams, displayed the fine spirit and sportsmanship traditional at Union High School.

On December 1, the West Side battalion broke camp to invade enemy territory. Displaying great strategy, the Red unit overcame the Port Huron forces.

Five of the team's eight defeats were by six points or less. This helps to show that the team was more powerful than the scores indicate. Co-captained by Fred Linaere and Andrew Steketee, the Red Hawks piled up 346 points against their opponents' 405, thus averaging 24.7 points a game.

"Red" Linaere, besides being the "big gun" of the team's offensive, again received a citation of honor on the All-City Team. Another red-headed recruit, who will undoubtedly take over Linaere's post, is Donald Kiehle, a sophomore who "won his spurs" in the Ottawa game.

At the half-way mark in the season, Ray Zimmerman reported for duty, adding much strength to the Red Hawk forces.

Linaere, Bert DeVries, Steketee, Cummings, and Mioduchowski have fought their last battle for Union.

GOLF

Although only one veteran, Zylstra, returned to the team this year, the squad has overcome the handicap of having only one experienced player and has successfully conquered such enemies as Tech, East Grand Rapids, Christian, and Creston in inter-city skirmishes. The squad hasn't, as yet, lost a combat and with three capable recruits, Budres, Carsok, and Tolodziecki in the line-up, is rapidly advancing toward a championship.

TENNIS

Not since 1935 has Union had such a promising tennis team, for all but one of the team members are experienced.

Very few Union tennis players have even been outstanding in city play, but with the three top members of this year's squad juniors, the prospects for next year seem unusually bright.

So far this season the Hawks have been victorious over Tech and have met defeat at the hands of Ottawa.

WRESTLING

In its second year of existence, 1939-40, the Hawk mat squad had one of the largest turn-outs in the state.

Under the leadership of co-captains DeGraw and Shippy, the squad finished second in both the city and state meets — the only team in the city to defeat the Hawks was Ottawa, whose squad was beaten by Union later in the season.

Although finishing second to Ottawa in the city meet, Union placed second in the state meet, finishing ahead of all city teams.

Roseman and Heible emerged with both city and state championships in the 175-pound and heavyweight divisions respectively, while DeGraw captured the city championship in the 145-pound division. The squad has an excellent start toward success next season, inasmuch as it is losing only three top men.

BASEBALL

Starting the season with few veterans, the Union nine came up against a strong foe in the first city encounter. After ten hard-fought innings, the South nine was victorious with a 4-1 score. In the next combat the Hawks were shut out by the Christian nine with a score of 3-0. It seemed that the team was headed toward the same misfortune as befell the "39" team, which lost its first three games.

After a few changes, this season's nine won its next two games with their bats playing the tune "Revenge is sweet," for they defeated Ottawa 3-2 and Creston 2-1. Both teams had decisively defeated the Hawks in "39."

Of the nine regular players on the team there was one freshman, four sophomores, three juniors, and but one senior.

With the loss of but one man, the Hawks should have an exceptional team next season.

TRACK

With a fine array of runners and jumpers Union's cinder squad has forged ahead with four victories and only one defeat at the hands of Ottawa, last year's city champions.

In the first skirmish of this year, Union was victorious over a bitter foe, Tech.

Union's speedsters kept on the alert and scuttled Creston by a score of 81-39.

In the following week Ottawa came into the Union camp seeking a victory. Union was caught off guard, for four members of the squad were on the sick list. Ottawa conquered the weakened foe, 82-42. Traveling to Hastings, Union defeated the home team, 69-34½, and in the last encounter of the season, surprised Central into a 68-54 defeat.

The outstanding point scorer has been Medukas, a junior.

The Girls in Blue

Healthy bodies are of the utmost importance in America's war for physical fitness. In gymnasium Union girls are taught exercises, sports, dances, and good sportsmanship. Baseball, basketball, volleyball and other sports give the needed strength by developing the muscles. That is how our "soldierettes" train for the battle. Skill, accuracy, and control result from practice in bowling, ping-pong, and badminton; while dancing gives grace and poise.

Good sportsmanship is good ammunition for the battle of life, for a good sport has the advantage in any combat. Inter-school competition and team play train Union's Amazons to be good sports.

A battle against disease is also carried on by the physical education departments. The war cry for this struggle might well be "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," as the girls are weighed, measured, checked, and tested in an effort to prevent the spread of disease and to keep them in good condition.

Thus the co-eds of Union are being equipped for the battle of life, equipped with the armor of strong, healthy, poised, and well-controlled bodies.

An army marching — an army without guns to kill, or bombs or tanks to destroy — an army with the weapon of creative work — that is the Union student body and faculty advancing against the menace of unskillfulness. Life is a constant battle in which only the boy or girl who is ably prepared can survive. The bulwark of our defense is the English language; our reinforcements are a knowledge of mathematics and sciences; and we are soldiers fighting the battle for a living with skills gained in commercial and other vocational classes. The world today demands preparedness and Union's army is prepared because the faculty have mobilized their forces wisely to help students fight the menace of unskillfulness.

Troops Mass on Commercial Front

In school American boys study not the mechanics of bombs, grenades, and pistols, but rather biology, geometry, and physics. Nevertheless, we American students try to employ true military zeal in our fight against the insect pest, and in our search for the elusive line and the hidden force. We are not impelled by inhuman dictators to waste ourselves on careers of warfare. Neither do we live in a constant state of fear, dependent upon the whims of a ruler.

While the physics and chemistry laboratories of Europe are engaged in finding new means of transmitting death and destruction, our laboratories are seeking ways to alleviate human pain and assist the progress of civilization by modern inventions and new discoveries.

We are truly thankful that we live in America, where no brutal war halts progress every few years.

No Blackouts of Progress

In the ceaseless struggle of earning a living which will presently engage Union's 1940 regiment, few weapons are more useful than the knowledge gained in commercial courses.

The student usually begins commercial work with a study of business arithmetic and bookkeeping, where he learns to keep a systematic record of transactions.

Shorthand is a code that will get one's message across to both employer and fellow worker. The all-important speed may be acquired by reading, both oral and silent, and by hours of drilling. Typing, dictaphone practice, and retail selling complete the high school preparation for a business career.

A little strategy in the shape of hard work will take the commercial student out of that No-Man's-Land, Inefficiency, and place him up at the front among the winners.

Mightier Than the Sword

There is an old saying in Europe that Italian is the language to use when you want to sing, French when you want to make love, and English when you want to do business. But English classes at Union prepare students for victory in the battle of life, not only by preparing them to use the English language skillfully and efficiently in the business of earning a living, but also in the business of living.

Active participation in class projects and various activities helps the students in overcoming awkwardness and shyness, and gives them confidence in themselves by accustoming them to extemporaneous speeches, discussions, and reports. In English III classes a study of movies is made so that students can learn how to spend their time and money wisely, and at the same time enjoy themselves and promote better movies. With all the world propaganda conscious, a study of propaganda devices prepares the students to be on the look-out for man's most common ways of trickery.

English classes indeed prepare students for more than just the business of earning a living!

Diplomats of Goodwill

The establishment of better understanding and friendlier relations between the nations of the world is one of the major objectives of Union's language department where students learn about other countries and their customs, and develop an interest and sympathy that soon dispels any feeling of race-hatreds or too narrow nationalism.

In a military sense, Latin might well be termed the quartermaster of the entire language division. Although it is not actually spoken any longer, it is the language which has formed a foundation for nearly all of the widely used Occidental tongues of today. It is to Latin that other language students must refer for grammatical drills or for word "weapons" that aid in conquering the meaning of derivatives.

French is, in reality, our over-sea's army, and through the many accomplishments of this division, are we able to boast many diplomatic victories on the continent and even in the Orient.

Our third battalion, Spanish, has gained many reinforcements in the past year. Perhaps the term "National Guard" could be given it, since its aim is to suppress any feeling of animosity or enmity between the Americas.

Unskilled Labor Defeated Here

The shop teachers are continually striving to turn out boys trained to fit into the many industries of Grand Rapids, boys with necessary skills and knowledge, correct attitudes and habits, who will have a good chance of winning in the battle of earning a living.

With furniture and printing still regarded as the two principal industries in this city, naturally the three most popular shops are those where the student learns woodworking, cabinetmaking, and printing.

Two comparatively new subjects that are very useful to the students that study them are electricity and auto-mechanics. These two, and almost every other shop, offer complete courses in which a student may work to his own advantage.

On the Home Front

Women have always had their share to do during conflicts between peoples. They have not always fought, like Amazons, with sword and shield; but they have always formed the defense behind the front lines.

Today, in war-torn Europe, each nation is keenly aware of the importance of the home front. It is the women who must guard the soldiers against two of nature's greatest enemies, hunger and cold.

American women have objectives, too; one is greater value received for each dollar spent. Statistics show that women spend the greatest part of the family income. Therefore, in order to win in the struggle, women must be trained in proper buying and evaluation of food and clothing. This is in large part the aim of the home economics department at Union. Students are taught not only how to buy food and material intelligently, but how to prepare the food properly and how to make garments from the cloth. Also the duties of a hostess, social poise, etiquette, and proper grooming are stressed. By working together in groups the students develop personality, character, and initiative.

This is the way Union, through the home economics departments, prepares its girls to carry on their struggle for a fuller and better existence.

Our combat rewarded by the shadow of Victory cast over our trenches! We have conquered the enemy! What enemy? BOREDOM! That is the cowardly victim! At midday we do not hear airplanes approaching, bombs breaking, alarms signalling, — instead, the twelve o'clock bell rings, and the strains of Dorsey and Crosby entice eager students to enjoy the "shelter" of the dance floor or ping-pong table. Clubs call to all who are interested; assemblies present possibilities for the students to show their talents; — in Union High School, Opportunity knocks repeatedly. Satan finds mischief for idle hands, so we jubilantly answer the challenge of Boredom, our Public (School) Enemy Number One!

Recreational activities are bombarding every stronghold of life in America. Factories and business houses are providing recreational facilities for employees and encouraging competition between various teams of workers. Another example of the invasion of recreation into the stronghold of work is that made by the noon hour activities program at Union High School.

Modern educators sometime ago scuttled the idea that school is just a place for study. Union students remaining in school at noon are given the last half of the lunch hour each day for recreation. During this time they may dance; play ping-pong, shuffleboard, chess and checkers; or sing. Development of these interests in school will guard against future boredom and lack of social adaptability.

Credit should be given to the school's faithful ally, the Union High Community Council, for supplying some of the equipment for the noon hour recreational program. Such equipment includes ping-pong tables, balls, paddles, and nets and a fine amplifying system to provide music for the dancing.

The two faculty members who have fought the hardest and longest for a recreational program are Miss Blanch Mann and Mr. Floyd Early who act as consultants to Evelyn Van Dyke and Pearl Vander Burg, student advisers in a group of workers consisting of the directors of activities, their assistants, and N.Y.A. help, all cooperating to make Union's new noon hour plan a triumph over boredom.

I Hear America Singing

In our nation's war against boredom, radio has been of untold assistance by creating in our country an unprecedented interest in music. Those who cannot afford to go to the great music centers to hear famous artists sing or play the works of the masters can now hear them over the radio, free of charge.

Then, too, with the invention of radio, the increased demand for musical talent offers many vocational possibilities for the musicians of America.

These advantages and opportunities have indirectly affected the pupils of Union High School in that they have created in the students a growing interest in music.

At the successful programs presented by the orchestral department, under the direction of Mr. Theodore Fryfogle, and the vocal department, under Miss Florence Best, the students have demonstrated both their interests and their talent.

Union's Forces Mobilize

With the Community Council, composed of West Side businessmen, faculty members, alumni, and student representatives, as the commanding officers; the Fifth Annual Round-up as the campaign plan; and the students as soldiers, Union High School began a campaign designed to fight juvenile delinquency by obtaining funds to set up an evening recreational center for Union students.

The plan of attack called for a camouflaging of session rooms as ranges, and Union students as cowboys and cowgirls. To achieve this disguise, the students rigged themselves out with cowboy hats and neckerchiefs.

On the Thursday before the Blitzkrieg, a parade was held which displayed the might and ardor of Union's "Western Front" men.

Visitors to the Round-up on April 12, 13, scarcely recognized the halls camouflaged with booths and the whole building turned into a carnival scene where one might enjoy roller skating, dancing, shooting galleries, a fun house, a minstrel show, and many other amusements.

Art Routs Boredom

Art is man's interpretation of what he sees around him. While photography is only a reproduction of what appears to the naked eye, a cold, factual depiction, a work of art may be a vivid editorial on the same subject. As a means of recreation, art releases one from the world of reality into a world of fantasy that is one's own creation. With such an avocation, the threat of boredom is remote. Art work may also become a profitable vocation. Commercial advertising, architecture, and sculpture are some of the many professional fields open to an artist.

The purpose of the Union High School Art Club is to stimulate greater interest in art. The club program helps students to recognize and appreciate the works of the masters as well as those of contemporary artists. Students through a critical study of different types of art invariably improve their own work. Class and club alike combine to make art an enjoyable and also an educational field of endeavor.

Boredom Blockaded

To aid Union in its battle against boredom, a varied club program has been organized.

The Audubon and Conservation clubs make an annual field trip to study nature. Thus the members gain a deeper understanding of the value of all living things and fight to preserve them.

The Safety Club wages a battle against accidents on the street, in school, and in the home. They spread propaganda to make students safety conscious.

Inactivity and ignorance are not strong enough to resist the attacks of the Hi-Y Club with their weapons of Christian character and friendly fellowship.

The Personality Club has for its objective the development of good character and pleasant personality, as its name suggests.

There are no special requirements for enlistment in these clubs excepting, of course, an interest in their purpose.

Entrenched Against the Enemy

The Humane Club, whose marching orders are the prevention of cruelty to animals, has completed a simplification of the state humane laws so that they now can be understood by fifth, sixth, and seventh graders. A survey of pets in local schools was also on the club's docket this year.

The Y.W.C.A. is the center of activity for the Girl Reserves since they are junior members of that organization. Striving to find and give the best is their special commission in the battle that is life, and their fighting slogan is "I will try to face life squarely."

In order to enlist in the Girls "U" Club, a girl must have earned an athletic award. The club brings speakers on many topics of interest and sponsors several social affairs yearly.

The Home Economics Club brings together class groups studying home economics and strives to develop personality, leadership, and social poise in its members.

At The Front

Early last September Union declared war on Boredom, and our regiments have emerged victorious. Union's forces wouldn't have had a chance in their combat with Boredom, had it not been for the many interesting assemblies presented throughout the year. Each program that was sent to the front served a special purpose.

Some of the outstanding speakers were Dr. Frank Slutz, who talked on "Personality Plus"; Mr. Robert Merrill, archeologist and former member of the Board of Education, who showed pictures of a trip to Mexico; Mayor Welsh, who spoke on "Civic Responsibility"; and Rabbi Folkman, who, on Lincoln's birthday, talked on "The Common Touch."

Miss Thomasma, faculty chairman of the special assembly committee, has tried to have demonstrated at each patriotic assembly the solo possibilities of some type of musical instrument. Miss Margaret Hunt and Mrs. Dorothy Pelck McGraw, harp and harpsichord soloists, and Mr. Biferno, flutist, entertained the students with their fine music. Concerts were given by the Philharmonic Quartette of Chicago and the Grand Rapids Civic Band.

This year's Christmas pageant was very colorful, because of the new stage equipment which was used for the first time.

The flag-raising ceremonies presented by the R.O.T.C. this year were, according to Union's own Reflector, "the most elaborate ever presented before a high school audience."

Successful Barrage

Through our active club programs, assemblies, Round-up, noon-hour recreation and our participation in art and music the enemy Boredom has indeed been assailed from every side.

Throughout the year mass meetings sponsored by the Athletic Council and led by our cheer and song leaders have kept up the high morale of the student body at Union.

Skilled dramatic talent was mobilized for the all-school play "Anne of Green Gables," presented on March 29. Volunteers were inspected in the early part of April for the senior play "Wuthering Heights," presented on May 16-17 by Dramatic Coach Stanley Albers.

There are never quiet days on the Grand Rapids schools' "Western Front," for each week brings its quota of sunlight dances, roller-skating parties, after-school sales, athletic contests, and evening affairs such as the Sno-swing, Turkey Strut, and other dances in addition to concerts, pageants, and programs of various kinds.

Democracy is on trial, and all Americans must unite in a mighty effort to prove its worth. Because a democratic state must have an intelligent, well-educated citizenry if it is to survive, the American public schools have become the training camps for the defenders of democracy. In school, through government and history classes, boys and girls learn both the ways of democracy and its history. Through journalistic training, students learn to combat propaganda and defend the truth. They put democracy into action in their clubs where world affairs are reviewed and discussed freely. Students are striking a hard blow in defense of their democratic ideals, a blow which will take its toll on the enemy line. American youth of today is wide awake and determined to make democracy work!

Democracy in Action

The Student Council is our self-governing body. Each session room elects and sends representatives to the council meetings. Thus do Union students, from the seventh grade up, meet the basic theory of democracy, which is self-government.

The right and ability to think for one's self being essential to democracy, quick thinking, in which practice is afforded by debating, provides students a tool for building firmly the bulwarks of our nation's strength. This year our debating squad has come through many verbal combats victorious.

The service squad is comprised of two representatives from each session room. These faithful student sentinels guard our halls against traitors who would break rules.

The democratic idea of representation is further carried out in the Press Club in which delegates from each session room make up the membership. The club takes subscriptions, distributes, and, in general, finances our school paper, the Reflector.

Our First Line of Defense

America's war for liberty has never ended; and today, more than ever, her first line of defense is the education of her Army of Youth. Through the study of American history the raw recruits learn from the past the lessons that experience can teach.

Nor is experience the only instructor of Union's rookies, for in such classes as civics and modern problems these recruits are trained in the ways of battle — a battle for democracy.

Organized this year, a flourishing new group, Club Democracy, bears witness that here at Union America's Army of Youth is fighting earnestly for the preservation of democracy; and this army will not be stopped as long as education for the cause of democracy is carried on in the public schools.

Alliance of Amity

Troops of students, in a battle for knowledge, trudge through Union's trenches of learning, preparing to conquer the arch enemy of peace, namely, prejudice. There are numerous clubs endeavoring to create a better understanding of foreign peoples. Speakers have kept the Foreign Relations Club well informed on events abroad; the Junior Red Cross has carried on a correspondence with students of other lands; language clubs have studied the life and customs of other nations. Having massed their forces, classes and clubs have created a spirit of internationalism that will remain sturdy despite all wars.

The Reflector

A continuous struggle for ideals in addition to a battle royal for editorial and financial success is waged yearly by the Reflector. Under the banner, "Unity, Honor, Sincerity," the paper, by means of editorials, features, and photographs, has provided the students of Union High an impetus to their cultural and social development. The Reflector has always been a devout advocate of that privilege enjoyed by this free nation — freedom of speech.

This year's accomplishments have been the privilege from time to time of releasing official communiques through the various columns of the paper, an appearance of lightness in make-up, and other changes which have kept the staff emulating a modern mechanized unit. Combating all odds, the printers worked as a precision unit and the timing of finished distribution was perfect.

A platoon consisting of recruits and several veterans has been organized into a financial unit. This special detail has tried new tactics of ad-getting, and as a result has waged a winning battle. Without this ally, the Reflector could not exist because there is no subsidy to sustain the paper.

School publications are an excellent outlet for the practice of freedom of speech and offer an opportunity for exercising the good taste and integrity that must accompany this privilege.

R.O.T.C.

The object of the R.O.T.C. is to prepare the student for citizenship in the world's greatest democracy, and to prepare him for leadership not only in military life but also in civil life. The training offered improves the cadet's physical and mental strength and general appearance. It develops powers of self-discipline and control, self-respect, self-confidence, resourcefulness, courage, and ambition; it promotes courtesy and consideration for others and fosters habits of neatness, precision, and cleanliness; it maintains discipline; and it inspires the spirit of cooperation which is so vital to the establishment and maintenance of schools, libraries, and other public facilities in a democracy. Thus does the R.O.T.C. foster the good citizenship which is true patriotism.

Dear Beverly,

Just a remembrance to the sweetest pal I have or ever hope to have. Wishing you loads of luck.

Betty.

Your winning long may in this smile should go a
